

Bloomfield Record.

S. M. HULIN, Editor and Proprietor.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., JULY 10, 1873.

A Weak Invention of the Enemy.

Our righteous indignation was somewhat aroused on Tuesday when we learned that a malicious report had been circulated in Montclair to the effect that the Record had ceased to exist. We know by intuition that we are indebted to our amiable neighbors of the Gazette for this last example of brotherly affection. Had such a report appeared openly in the columns of their paper, no damage would have resulted. Nobody, we venture to say, reposes much confidence in the opinions or assertions of a so-called newspaper that has achieved a reputation quite the opposite of reliability as a vehicle of news and public opinion. The publication therein of an "opinion" that the Record was about to "burst up" would very likely be construed into a concession of its sound financial status for an indefinite period in the future. We only object to the manifest attempts to strangle us in the dark.

We have no relish for squabbles. Our antagonists have chosen to inaugurate this controversy, and it rests solely with them whether it shall cease or proceed to the bitter end. A reasonable person would think that the results of a five month's trial, during which they have labored with a violence and energy worthy of a better cause, would satisfy them of the fallacy of their undertaking.

Possibly it may be an act of charity for us to inform the Gazette folks that if they harbor and cherish in their minds the delusion that the BLOOMFIELD RECORD is anything else than a firmly-established, successful, and consequently long lived concern, the sooner they get rid of any such infatuation the better. And getting disabused of it, let them be advised, and terminate this inglorious rivalry.

Walworth the Parriode.

The trial of young Walworth has been put through with a decency of haste creditable alike to prosecution and defense. It came to a conclusion by the middle of last week having occupied far less time than is usually consumed in murder cases. The jury received the case on Wednesday evening, after a charge by Judge Davis of three hours duration. A verdict of murder in the second degree was promptly rendered. It was received by the prisoner with an equanimity only excelled by the coolness with which he came down from the slaying of his victim.

On Saturday morning the final scene in this trial was enacted, that of pronouncing sentence upon the prisoner. Judge Davis, in addressing Walworth prior to passing sentence, said that the evidence justified the verdict of murder in the second degree. Alluding to the tragedy he said:

"When I look back upon that moment when you constituted yourself his executioner and slew him in that room with no one present but yourself, I cannot but feel that that death must have been to him more terrible than a thousand deaths in any other form. Called by you to your presence apparently for the purpose of a peaceful interview to settle family difficulties; invited to a seat in your room and apparently almost instantly confronted with a weapon of death in his own son's hands, what thoughts must have rushed on at that moment, when he found that the person whom he expected had come to him for the purposes of a peaceful arrangement, what thoughts, what terrible thoughts must have rushed upon him when he received the deadly messenger of death in his bosom from the hand of his eldest boy! I shudder when I think of it, and I think you ought to devote your whole life to a repentance such as God only can accept for so horrible a deed."

"The sentence of the Court is that you be imprisoned in the State Prison at Sing Sing at hard labor for the full term of your natural life."

He was taken to Sing Sing on Wednesday. His hard labor will probably consist of some light clerical duty, and apart from the irksome confinement, and the inconvenient discipline, his punishment will not be of a very rigorous nature.

A performance was given in New York on Tuesday night in aid of a Catholic Church which was a brilliant and novel affair. One corner of the room, says the N. Y. Mail, was arranged as a beer garden, and here lager and cigars were dispensed by young ladies in white. In the center of the church, a billiard table was placed, and on the benches which surrounded it were seated, in full enjoyment of the performance, the members of the church and their friends. The first game was between Messrs. Kavanagh and Cyrille Dion, and Albert Garrier and Joseph Dion. The interesting feature of this game was the evident embarrassment of players, who had probably never before played a game of billiards under such peculiar circumstances or before such an audience. The game was won by Joseph Dion and Garrier by a score of 150 to 91. At the conclusion of the match the company were entertained with numerous fancy shots by Garrier and others. Father Flattery, the pastor of the church, was present throughout the evening, appearing pleased at the success of the entertainment.

COMMUNICATED.

RESOLVED, That the Township Committee of the Township of Bloomfield be and they are hereby requested to investigate the effects and influence on the interests of the people of said township, of the running of trains of cars by locomotives; of the running of street cars by the power of steam; of the firing off of firearms, crackers and other explosive materials; the blowing of steam whistles; the ringing of bells; the rustling and blowing about of paper in the streets; the crowing of cocks; the flying of kites; the playing on musical instruments, and report to the legal voters at the next annual town meeting.

MANY OF THE PEOPLE.

M. E. CHURCH.—On last Sabbath evening Rev. Henry Spellmeyer preached the second of a course of sermons to young people. His subject was "Counsels to Young Women." The theme was ably handled, and his discourse throughout was listened to with marked attention by a very large and appreciative congregation. We would thank the pastor of the M. E. Church for preaching this course of sermons. It is to be hoped that the seeds of truth he sows may produce abundant fruit in the regeneration of the young of our village.

Mr. Editor: I beg leave, through your columns, to thank my friends for their prompt efforts in quenching the fire caused by the explosion of fireworks at my store last week; also the Firemen's Insurance Co. for their prompt adjustment of the insurance on the toys. I desire to correct a mistake that is extensively circulated, to the effect that I was fully insured. The fixtures and fireworks were not included. My loss over four hundred dollars above what I receive.

D. HEWITT.

The Steam Street Car.

This innovation has appeared in our midst, and is in successful operation on the line between Bloomfield and Newark. The "Remington," as it is called, does not differ materially in appearance from other street cars. The propelling apparatus occupies a portion of the front platform, and is entirely shut off from the rest of the car. The interior is handsomely finished and upholstered.

The Remington has already become quite popular with the patrons of the road. Its manifest advantages—quickness of transit from town to town, ease of starting and stopping for the accommodation of passengers, the facility with which the car can be warmed in winter, and other good points, must entitle it to merited favor and bring it into general use. The universal employment of steam as a motor for street railways is not far distant in the future, and will be a public benefit in many ways. The value of real estate in rural sections will be enhanced, and it will be appreciated as a general promoter of comfort and progress.

The Inman steamship City of Washington went ashore on the coast of Nova Scotia on Saturday last, not far from the scene of the Atlantic mishap. The horrors of the Atlantic, however, were not repeated. Providentially, no lives were lost. Continued dull and foggy weather, which rendered it impossible to shape the ships course, was the cause of the disaster. Details show that neither sun nor stars had been seen throughout the voyage. At the time of striking, the fog was so dense that no object could be seen three yards ahead. The sea was calm and the distance from shore only a quarter of a mile. Without any excitement all the boats were launched and in three hours every passenger was landed by means of aid from the shore. The vessel contained 28 cabin passengers and 481 steerage passengers.

Powder-proof Buildings.

Now comes a demand for some style of building that will defy earthquakes, explosions and hurricanes. Fire-proof construction was found full of shortcomings the other night at Patesville, Pa., when 700 pounds of giant powder and 70 pounds of nitro-glycerine made things very lively all around the neighborhood of a certain building, which was utterly demolished, notwithstanding the deprecatory statement that it "was worth $3,000 and was supposed to be fire-proof." The innocent souls who supposed "that the combination of $3,000 in cash with fire-proof construction would discourage the explosive and gyrating proclivities of giant powder and glycerine," have been startlingly disabused. But there is a wonderful winch about the further supposition of the people in the neighborhood that "by some means somebody's light came in contact with the powder and so caused the catastrophe." Which reminds us of a remark made by one of a large crowd of persons who were busily engaged in looking at four fallen ear-horses one icy morning. In the midst of a painful silence, born of pure sympathy, this philosopher ventured the profound platitude that the horses "must have slipped!" Now, won't some genius tell people how to build houses which shall be powder proof; or, which is better, give us a way of preventing powder, nitro-glycerine, benzine and that like from going off at half-cock or at inconvenient moments?

—Evening Mail.

Dr. John F. Ward, formerly of Bloomfield has been lying seriously ill at his residence in Newark. His condition was reported to be improved on Tuesday, and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

The Fourth in Bloomfield.

The national holiday was ushered in by the ringing of bells, the blowing of steam-whistles, and burning of powder in a small way. The customary sunrise salute, from "ye mortal engines whose rude throats the immortal Jove's dread clamors counterfeit," was dispensed with. So, also was the hackneyed reading of the Declaration of Independence—and also the listening to the customary oration—generally an interesting affair to the parties named in the programme—but often quite the reverse to most of the audience.

Young America felt called upon to observe the day by the usual explosions of villainous saltpetre in its various forms, and the retailers of these commodities, we presume, had no objections.

The ice cream saloons were popular resorts—and the same might be said of the places where is dispensed the cup which cheers as well as inebriates.

The best of good order prevailed, at least so far as the Record reporter's observation went. There were no noteworthy accidents. Amid all the ear-splitting detonations of pistol and blunderbuss practice by the boys, none of them got shot unless they bought it at WILDE's or some other store. Agricultural billiards were quite the thing on the Park, opposite Mrs. Howell's. Her guests, we should say, must have enjoyed the Fourth immensely in the generous shade of the wide spreading elms of our beautiful village.

Base ball also had its votaries among the young men, who took advantage of their "indiscreet right," for this day, at least, to "the pursuit of happiness" even in defiance of the Town Committee's edict against ball playing in the Park.

Towards evening the scene shifted from the spacious and verdant lawns to the more compact and pent-up Centre. Here an ample platform had been erected on Bloomfield Ave. for the expected band, which arrived about six o'clock. The music they gave us was delightful. It was also interspersed and varied by a fine display of fireworks. This wind-up of the day was nicely managed; and it was creditable to the public spirit and good taste of the merchants, hotel keepers, and residents who contributed this very neat little private celebration for the delectation of all who might choose to enjoy it.

ABOUT TOWN.

A popular man—Alderman U—know. The Montclair Gas and Water Co. are laying mains in Belleville avenue.

Indispensible—this hot weather, ice from the Crystal Spring.

Wesley B. Corby has sold his new house on Washington avenue to a New York gentleman for $5000.

The brick walls of Messrs. Baldwin & Son's machine-shop, on Bloomfield avenue, are rapidly going up.

The friends of Rev. John Ward, late of Bloomfield, will be interested to learn that he has been installed over the Presbyterian Church, of Montgomery, N. Y., of which the late Rev. G. M. Judd was pastor at the time of his death.

A. Harvey, owner of the store recently occupied by D. Hewitt, has received $75 from the American Mutual Insurance Co. of Newark, in partial adjustment of his damage by fire. He desires to thank the officers of that company for so doing, as they were not legally bound to pay anything, under the circumstances.

REAL ESTATE.—We learn that the property of Mr. Bound, situated upon Baldwin and Highland avenues, has been purchased by Mr. Shyback, of New York City, for about $25,000. The property is desirably located, near the Millard R. R., and embraces a commodious dwelling and about five acres of choice land.

EARLY CLOSING.—Mr. Edward Wilde announces that he will close his store at 7 30 P. M. on Thursday. This movement is inaugurated with the view of obtaining an evening or two each week for himself and employees. We hope the public will sustain him in this endeavor, and that his customers will bear it in mind and come early on Thursday evening.

ELECTION.—At a regular meeting of Olive Branch Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 51, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Theo. Cadmus, N. G.; Joseph Carter, V. G.; John P. Folson, P. S.; N. H. Doid, T.; Joseph Fairbanks, C.; J. E. Evenden, L. S. N. G.; Henry Robinson, R. S. N. G.; Joseph Baldwin, L. S. V. G.; E. Westlake, R. S. V. G.; Adam Wisner, W.

THE PARK AND VICINITY.—The M. E. folks have greatly improved their property by inclosing it with a neat fence. They are also at work grading their grounds about the church. We are glad to see that they do not mean to be outdone by the uniformly neat appearance characteristic of all the property below them fronting the Park. As regarding the Park itself—we all entertain hopes that one day, sooner or later, it will become what it ought to be—one of the distinguishing features of the village. A thousand dollars from the town at large and a similar sum from the good citizens who reside in the vicinity could be judiciously and profitably employed upon this invaluable accessory of our beautiful town. It would be sufficient to inclose it with an iron railing, and go far toward beautifying and embellishing the interior.

GENERAL NEWS.

Two licenses to sell opium for a year in Honolulu were lately sold at auction for $28,000.

The Cincinnati public library has 60,000 volumes, and in September will have space for 250,000.

The laying of the New Atlantic cable of 1873 was successfully accomplished on Independence Day.

The Khivan war is ended. The Prussians destroyed the town of Mangit because it made a desperate resistance.

Dr. Amos Westcott, a well-known dental surgeon of Syracuse, N. Y., committed suicide there on Sunday last.

The people of Palmer, Mass., preserved their morning slumber on the Fourth by extracting the tongue from the church bell.

The Shah of Persia on leaving Buckingham Palace distributed $20,000 among the servants and policemen who were on duty during his stay there.

A young man who rose in the Cairo Police Court and called out, "Three cheers for Billy Patterson," sat down under a fine of $100.

The city of Buffalo, N. Y., was the recipient of two shocks of earthquakes on Sunday morning. No damage was done further than the shaking down of a single chimney.

Twenty-five tons of stores descended from the fifth story to the basement of a Chicago store lately without stopping to take breath. The floors all got out of the way.

A boat containing three persons went over the Falls of Niagara on the 4th of July. The body of one of them, a young lady, was recovered on Monday at Youngstown, seven miles below the Falls.

A duel between Cassagnac the journalist and Ranc, member of the Assembly, from Lyons, took place on Tuesday, near Lausanne. It had its origin in an article written by M. de Cassagnac. The weapons used, were swords and both combatants were wounded.

A despatch from the Stanley Yellowstone Expedition, dated "at camp, seventy miles west of Bismarck, Dakota, June 30," states that the health of the whole command was good. The Indians were offering no serious resistance to the location of the railroad through their hunting grounds. An abundance of coal, of good quality, was found twenty-seven miles west of the Missouri River, on the surveyed line of the road, and the country thus far traversed by the expeditionary force is an excellent one, well grassed and watered.

A rumor is circulated in London that a wealthy baronet, long of unsound mind, and represented to be still living, really died years ago, but that some affectionate relatives, to whose care he was committed by the legal authorities, have invented, with a view of retaining the ample allowances made to them for taking care of him by the Court of Chancery, a lay figure, an admirable likeness of the deceased gentleman, which, seated in an easy chair and covered over the fire, they show to the official inquirers, with the intimation that he can't bear to be approached or disturbed.

STATE ITEMS.

Jay Gould has bought the Vineland Railroad for $10,000.

The New Jersey Derby is in progress at Monmouth Park.

The Industrial Exhibition to be held in Newark next September will be the event of the year for this vicinity.

The new steam fire engine built for the city of Orange arrived last week and was tested with highly satisfactory results.

That colossal land mark of Newark, Fagin's Mill, is to be converted into a gigantic mill house, having been purchased for that purpose by the Van Vliets, of New York.

A live alligator some what disturbed the nerves of a family in an Elizabeth in whose yard it was discovered. It was a small one, however, and found to have escaped from an aquarium.

Elias Colyer of East Newark, attempted to jump on a Pennsylvania train at Jersey City, on Saturday, as it was leaving the depot, when he fell under the car. The wheels passed over him, cutting both legs off. His injuries will probably prove fatal.

A meeting was held in Rahway Wednesday to receive subscriptions for the new bridge which is to connect that city with the Long Branch and Sea Shore and thence with the New Jersey Central. About $12,000 worth of stock was taken. The capital is $50,000.

The body of a German named Karl Kustner was found in a dock at Hoboken on Sunday. There were marks of violence on the body and suspicions of foul play are entertained. Kustner recently arrived from Germany and was known to have had in his possession from $18,000 to 20,000.

Wm. Gilroy, a laborer, finding himself on the Pennsylvania track at Point of Rocks, Jersey City, just as a train was coming along, threw himself over the side and clasped one of the rails with his hand. The wheels passed over his hand, crushing it so badly that it will have to be amputated.

The cottage of Mr. Joseph Ware, near Cape Island, was struck by lightning during a recent storm, the electric fluid going down a water-spout, into a bedroom, killing a hen and chickens in the yard, scattering fifty pounds of sugar about the kitchen, searing an old colored woman nearly white, and finally exhausting itself in a cistern of water. Milton Paul, a resident of Hudson County, was riding through Secaucus with his family on Saturday. While attempting to cross the railroad track, one of the traces broke. A train thundered down upon the frightened excursionists at the same time. They, however, saved themselves by leaping from the coach. The next instant the carriage was struck by the train and dashed into fragments.

An army of toads has recently attracted much attention in Morristown, millions of about an inch in length, having taken up a line of march from Speedwell Mills' pond. The main body of the column was about five feet in width, and stretched across the road in front of Clara Hoig, passing through the garden of Mr. Wright, and thence through the fields towards Mills' pond. Outside of this main body were skirmishers traveling in the same direction. There appeared to be no beginning or end to the procession, the first being in long grass and the latter emerging from the pond. What caused these little fellows to leave one pond and go to the other is unknown. They kept up their march from Sunday to Wednesday, and hundreds of persons have been to witness this novel sight, the like of which has never been seen in Morristown before.
